The Princess who wouldn't laugh

Once upon a time in a faraway Kingdom there was a Princess. Everyone tried to make her laugh, but no one could get it right.

Kipper asked the children at home to make him laugh. Biff pulled a funny face, but that didn't make Kipper laugh. Chip told Kipper a funny joke, but he still didn't laugh. "Why don't you want to laugh, Kipper?" asked Biff.

Then Chip showed Kipper a set of joke teeth. They were new and funny. The teeth went click, click, click. The children all started laughing.

Suddenly, the magic key started to glow, and it took them on a new adventure.

They found themselves in a small village and they saw a poster on a tree. It offered a reward to anyone who could make the Princess laugh. "I am sure that I can make the Princess laugh," said Kipper.

The king also arrived in the small village. A young girl told him a joke. "The Princess won't laugh because that's not funny!" said the King. A man dressed up as a chicken came to speak to the King. "Oh no!" said the King. "Not another chicken!"

Biff told the King that they could make the Princess laugh. Kipper showed the teeth to the King. It went click, click, click. Everyone laughed and laughed. The King also started laughing. "The Princess will laugh at this." he said.

Unfortunately, the teeth fell out of Kipper's hands. A dog grabbed it and ran away with the teeth in its mouth. "Get the teeth and catch the dog!" shouted the King.

All the people and even the King ran after the dog, but the dog was too fast for them. "Catch the dog!" they shouted. As they ran along, the King tripped and fell. He was full of mud and very dirty. Then, the dog saw a bone lying in the road. He stopped to sniff the bone. Chip grabbed the dog and the teeth fell out of the dog's mouth. Kipper grabbed the teeth, but they were broken. "Oh dear" said the King. "What a pity! I really thought that these would help to make the princess laugh." The King put the teeth on a cushion, and they all walked to the palace. The Princess heard the noise and looked out of her window to see what was going on.

When she looked out of her window, she saw the King. The Princess began laughing. She laughed and laughed at her dad. His clothes were very dirty, and he was still carrying the cushion with the joke teeth on. She couldn't stop laughing. "The King has made the Princess laugh," said everyone and they clapped their hands.

Suddenly the magic key began to glow, and the children returned home. "I wonder what made the Princess laugh?" asked Kipper. "Well, people laugh about silly things!" said Chip.
